With regard to the discussions we had at the law firm with AEP, we've since learned that several of these concerns have been addressed by a letter sent by Scott Talton to Mr. Stephens on March 29, 2001. Also, prior to any discussions with AEP, I believe that we had already tried to eliminate as many of the concerns as possible by enforcing our terms and conditions of purchase. It appears that AEP is resisting because they are concerned about the length of the transaction and we've already eliminated the concern about the duration. (We've already addressed the issue of a rate for the first year or two as well as the issue of a reduction
