World War Z (Kong: Skull Island) Film Review Kong: Skull Island is poised to get the best reviews we've ever seen at the box office, and we caught up with award winning actor, Matt Damon, to get his take on the new movie, and the new genre of "found footage." His hope is that we'll see the genre come back. So as everyone knows, there is a new movie out from a movie studio called Universal called, the "King Kong" film. Matt Damon has played the male lead in that, and he will be the narrator of the film. The film is about a man who finds a mysterious island, and explores it and then comes back, and goes looking for Kong. And that's the story. I asked Matt Damon about the film, and his thoughts on the new genre of "Found Footage" movies which he's been championing. (Matt) It has a good cast and a great director, Spike Jonze. I don't know how he works, but when I read the script, I was in love with it. This is exactly the idea that I was talking about, the idea that there could be a way for filmmakers to create the feeling of
